MURDERED IN THE NIGHT

Edward M. Jones, better known as "Eddie" Jones, last Saturday night brutally shot his former wife, Mrs. Jones, and inflicted a wound on his mother-in-law, Mrs. Parmenter, which may prove fatal.

A little after midnight Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Parmenter, who were alone in their residence, Kinau street near Alapai, heard someone moving about on the front lanai. Mrs. Parmenter, dressed and going out on the lanai, found Jones lying asleep on the lanai. She went into the house and told Mrs. Jones. The two ladies then went to the telephone in the pumping station at the corner of Alapai and Beretania streets. Mrs. Jones went back to the house. When Officer Kane arrived and found Jones apparently drunk, he and the best thing he could do under the circumstances.

A conductor named Pringle, who had arrived on the scene, promised to watch Jones. Kane went to the corner of Alapai and King streets to intercept the patrol wagon, which he knew was coming from Waikiki.

While Mrs. Parmenter and Pringle were sitting on the curb outside the house, the latter suddenly saw Jones jumping over the fence and coming towards them. Pringle cried out to Jones not to shoot and threatened him with a bottle. As Jones still advanced Pringle ran off. Jones caught hold of Mrs. Parmenter. She called to him: "Pau, Eddie, all pau." He fired at her and missed.

Mrs. Jones, hearing the shot, called out from the house, "Mama! mama!" Jones recognized his wife's voice and started towards her. Mrs. Parmenter a moment later heard a shot. This was the one which killed Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Parmenter naturally became very much frightened. She began to call, "Haul in! Haul in!" On hearing this, Jones ran out and fired two shots at her, the second of which took effect. Jones then ran back into the yard while Mrs. Parmenter staggered into the house of G. W. R. King, which is just across the street.

When the patrol wagon arrived on the scene a number of people had gathered in the street outside the Jones house. In the patrol wagon were Officers Renear and McDuffie and a Bulletin reporter. The neighbors were much excited and some of them, who seemed almost hysterical, were blaming the police for all kinds of things. None of them had, however, ventured into the Jones yard. The new arrivals immediately entered the yard, where they found Mrs. Jones lying face downward on the ground.

A search was made of the premises but no trace was found of Jones. Mrs. Jones had received a wound just above the ear. The bullet had penetrated the brain and must have caused instant death. Mrs. Parmenter received a bullet ranging from above the eye back of the orbit, downward. It was first thought that the wound would be fatal, but she seemed to be resting more easily later on. During the day, an ante-mortem statement was taken from her.

Deputy Sheriff Millingworth and his officers started out on a hunt for the murderer. His room behind the relief camp, off Vineyard street, and several other places, which Jones was in the habit of frequenting, were visited, but with no result. Early yesterday morning, Officer Wm. Vida found Jones' hat, shoes and a wine bottle on a lot in the neighborhood.

Evidence has been gathered from the principal witnesses. A coroner's jury was sworn on the scene of tragedy. It is composed of the following persons: E. W. Campbell, H. W. Kinney, C. D. Pringle, W. T. Blacker, G. W. R. King and D. L. Sprinkle.

The murderer, Eddie Jones, is a carpenter about 40 years of age. His first wife is dead. He married Mrs. Jones about a year ago but their married life was not happy and she obtained a divorce from him a short time ago. Jones has four children of the first marriage—Oliver, John, Hattie and Violet. One brother, Dayton, is a guard at Oahu prison; two others, John and Arthur, are employed at the McInerney shoe store, and George, who is on the Coast.

High Sheriff Brown has offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest of Jones. The police are doing everything in their power to find him.

TERRY TO PEARL HARBOR.

Admiral Terry, accompanied by Captain Rodman, Captain Niblack and Captain White, sailed for Pearl Harbor in the U. S. S. Itasca this morning at 10:10 o'clock. It is the admiral's plan to make an examination of the Pearl Harbor property belonging to the Navy Department.

Great Yarmouth, England, has the narrowest street in the world. There are many narrow streets in Great Yarmouth, but the narrowest is Kitty White's, which is only 55 inches wide. You can lean out of your window and shake hands with your neighbor across the street.

Mrs. Isabel Beecher Albert, a grandniece of Henry Ward Beecher, has just made her appearance on the lecture platform.

VOLCANO ROAD GOING TO RUIN

Superintendent of Public Works Cooper's report of his business tour of Hawaii occupied most of the time of the executive council this morning. The Superintendent gave a detailed account of his trip and the urgent need of road construction and road improvements on the big island.

Appropriations by the Legislature were very short of the actual needs and in numerous cases where necessities were urgent, there had been no appropriation.

The volcano road, particularly, was in an exceedingly bad condition, being absolutely impassable in places. This road was more of a great gutter than a highway and was serving as a ditch to drain the countryside.

Mr. Cooper spoke of eighteen inches of water collecting in places on the volcano road within twenty-four hours.

Homesteaders and others were suffering greatly on account of such conditions. The road was going to ruin. In short, the highway leading to the volcano, used by tourists, vacation-seeking school teachers, homesteaders and all other local and visiting frequenters of the thoroughfare, was speedily attaining a condition of uselessness in parts.

Mr. Cooper had asked for a sufficient appropriation to cover the necessities in this and similar cases, but the funds were not forthcoming to carry out all that was required.

Treasurer Kepoika left the meeting early to interview representative bankers on the matter of the expenses of the territorial bond issue, prior to a conference on the subject, to be held this afternoon between the Governor, Treasurer, Secretary, Auditor and leading banking men.
